Part II Course Details

1. Abstract

This course is designed to examine the central issues relevant to the teaching of English as a second language and how this relates to training programmes. The course provides both the theoretical framework and pedagogical implications in the application of the framework for training in the English language. It also provides students with the basis for evaluating the effectiveness of training programmes and helps them understand the planning issues involved. By the end of the course students will have a deeper understanding of the theoretical issues involved in teaching English and how these relate to course design.

2. Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs)

(CILOs state what the student is expected to be able to do at the end of the course according to a given standard of performance.)

5. Assessment Rubrics

(Grading of student achievements is based on student performance in assessment tasks/activities with the following rubrics.)

1. In-class test		• Demonstrates an excellent grasp of the subject matter and an ability to apply the knowledge in course design.	• Demonstrates a good grasp of the subject matter and a good ability to apply the knowledge in course design.	 Demonstrates adequate grasp of the main issues Shows an adequate ability to apply it to course design. 	 Demonstrates limited understanding of the subject matter Shows a general lack of ability to apply the subject matter to course design. 	• Shows a poor understanding of the subject matter
2. Group Project		 A clearly written and presented group project. All areas of syllabus design are covered and the paper contains a clear rationale and explanation of the design of the course. Excellent use of English. 	 A well-presented and competently written document. Most of the areas of syllabus design are explained and justified. There are some questions that could still be asked about the course design. The standard of written English is very good. 	 An adequately presented project and fairly easy to read. There are a number of issues related to course design that have not been explained, or not explained well enough. There are recurrent language problems in the text. 	 A poorly written and presented report. There are several areas of course design which are not explained. There are a lot of questions that still need to be answered related to the course design. T he standard of English is below what is expected in a formal piece of academic writing. 	• An unacceptable written report. Brief, not enough information to form an idea of the course, and presented poorly.
