Part II Course Details

1. Abstract

The course covers the development and importance of New Media Art. Beginning with media archaeology and tracing advances in recording and presentation technologies, the course examines how innovations in media adds meaning to making art. Lectures cover how key technological developments in interactivity, networks, telepresence, programming, robotics, big data, artificial intelligence, augmented and virtual reality, bio/genetic engineering, generative systems and more have been incorporated into art practices. The course shows how artists have partnered with sciences to both utilize and often discover resonant possibilities within new technologies. Societal and cultural trends like immersive art experiences, social media, computational sensing, blockchain NFTs, Art+Tech, and more are commented on and often re-appropriated into artworks that reflect how technology becomes a media and how that media can become art.

2. Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs)

(CILOs state what the student is expected to be able to do at the end of the course according to a given standard of performance.)

5. Assessment Rubrics

(Grading of student achievements is based on student performance in assessment tasks/activities with the following rubrics.)

Applicable to students admitted before Semester A 2022/23 and in Semester A 2024/25 & thereafter

Assessment Task	Criterion	Excellent (A+, A, A-)	Good (B+, B, B-)	Fair (C+, C, C-)	Marginal (D)	Failure (F)
1. Midterm and Final Test	Review students' recognition and understanding of key artworks, art history movements, themes, major art figures, concepts and theory of New Media Art. Each topic is presented through questions that students must answer correctly.	The tests are weighted based on standard grading schemes. Student has received over 85% correct in questions from the lectures.	The tests are weighted based on standard grading schemes. Student has received 70% - 84% correct in questions from the lectures.	The tests are weighted based on standard grading schemes. Student has received over 55% - 69% correct in questions from the lectures.	The tests are weighted based on standard grading schemes. Student has received 50% - 54% correct in questions from the lectures.	The tests are weighted based on standard grading schemes. Student has received less than 49% correct in questions from the lectures.
2. Readings and Research	Students should demonstrate ability to apply skills to undertake directed, multi-platform research, build up arguments, vet underlying concepts and theory, recognize patterns and relevance.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Excellent grasp of materials, ability to explain key concepts, assumptions, and debates, demonstrating sound knowledge of the field</li> <li>• Evaluative judgments about existing research and demonstrate application of strong critical thinking skills</li> <li>• Strong ability to approach a text or a theme using a variety of theories and analytical tools</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Firm grasp of materials, ability to explain key concepts and assumptions</li> <li>• Appropriate judgments about existing research and demonstrate application of critical thinking skills</li> <li>• Ability to approach a text or a theme using a variety of theories and analytical tools</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Comprehensive grasp of materials, able to explain key concepts</li> <li>• Appropriate judgments about existing research</li> <li>• Weak ability to approach a text or a theme using a variety of theories and analytical tools</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Loose grasp of materials, cannot explain key concepts</li> <li>• Marginal judgments about existing research</li> <li>• Poor ability to approach a text or a theme using a variety of theories and analytical tools</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Poor grasp of materials</li> <li>• Fail to make reasonable judgments about existing research</li> <li>• Fail to approach a text or a theme using a variety of theories and analytical tools</li> </ul>

3. Field Research	Students must seek, observe and analyze site-specific artworks, placing each in the larger frameworks (theme, theory, art historical, etc.) covered in the lectures and readings. The threshold of 'discovery' lies in a student's self initiative to conduct field research and to personalize theories for her/his personal daily experience.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Rich, informative content, excellent grasp of the material with in-depth and extensive knowledge of the subject matter</li> <li>• Rigorous organization, coherent structure, and systematic exposition with a strong sense of narrative</li> <li>• Superior presentation skills: distinct pronunciation, fluent expression and appropriate diction, exact time-management</li> <li>• Critical analysis with insightful comments opening up new issues, or suggesting the ability to theorize</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Adequate content with firm grasp of the material that informs the audience on a subject matter</li> <li>• Reasonable organization, balanced structure and composition</li> <li>• Good verbal communication: comprehensible pronunciation, fluent expression and diction, fair time-management</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Adequate content With comprehensive grasp of the material demonstrating basic knowledge of the subject matter</li> <li>• Fair organization, weak structure and composition</li> <li>• Fair presentation skills: acceptable pronunciation, expression and diction, fair time-management</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Weak content, loose grasp of the general ideas with some knowledge of the subject matter</li> <li>• Poor organization, structure and composition</li> <li>• Poor presentation skills: marginal pronunciation, expression and diction, poor time-management</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Inadequate content, fail to identify the general ideas with knowledge of the subject matter</li> <li>• No organization, structure or/and composition</li> <li>• Poor presentation skills: marginal pronunciation, expression and diction, minimal time-management</li> </ul>
4. Class Collaborative Project	This assessment task reviews students' participation and performance in a collective media project. Individually students engage in a temporal, layered contribution to a larger media artwork.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Active in-class participation in design and structure of media project</li> <li>• Full weekly contribution to creative media project</li> <li>• Full prioritization of contribution in both theory and practice</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Active in-class participation in design and structure of media project</li> <li>• Partial weekly contribution to creative media project</li> <li>• Partial prioritization of contribution in</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Partial in-class participation in design and structure of media project</li> <li>• Occasional contribution to creative media project</li> <li>• Occasional prioritization of contribution to both theory and</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Unmotivated in-class participation in design and structure of media project</li> <li>• Rare contribution to creative media project</li> <li>• Undemonstrated prioritization of contribution in</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• unwilling to engage in-class participation in design and structure of media project</li> <li>• No contribution to creative media project</li> <li>• No prioritization of contribution in both theory and practice</li> </ul>
