Low dimensional structures in deep learning problems

Philipp Petersen

Mathematical Institute, University of Oxford, UK

Email: Philipp.Petersen@maths.ox.ac.uk

We analyse several approximation results of deep neural networks that demonstrate to what extent unspecified low-dimensionality of functions improves the approximation properties of neural networks. Among others, we will study low dimensionality modelled by a compositional model as well as that arising in the solution of parametric PDEs.